THE SMART HOME SHOW

The UK's Only Consumer Showcase for Home Technology

2 – 5 March 2006

National Exhibition Centre, (NEC), Birmingham

Over 28,000 visitors are expected at the second Smart Home Show, the UK's only dedicated consumer exhibition which brings together the best intelligent technological solutions and products for the home.

Around 70 exhibitors will showcase the latest technology for the home at the NEC from 2 -5 March 2006. The show will bring together the latest innovations in the four key sectors of smart living – home entertainment; intelligent heating and lighting; networking and communications and security. On display will be everything for a smarter home from home cinema, multi-room entertainment, intelligent appliances, custom installation and smart homes consultancy to lighting and climate control systems; telecomms and wireless communications; integrated touch control systems; remote access, monitoring and security systems.

The Smart Home Show will be co-located alongside well-established The National Homebuilding & Renovating Show, allowing visitors free access to each show. Research has shown that around 80% of Homebuilding visitors are interested in Smart products.

Visitors can also enjoy Ask the Experts sessions and a full programme of free seminars – 6 different sessions per day. Visit www.smarthomeshow.co.uk for the full seminar programme.
