

What smart mums want for Mother's Day.

Whoever said that technology was just for the boys? This Mother's Day on March 18th, why not treat your mum to something really smart? Being a Mum is hard work, so this Mother's Day splash out and let your mum really relax with some of the following smart gift ideas:

Digital Picture Frames

Digital picture frames make a lovely gift, you don't have to choose which picture to print; let your mum see a selection of her favourite photos as they rotate on the screen.

Relax in the bath with music & film

Every mum deserves some pampering, why not buy her a waterproof LCD screen for the bathroom, she can relax in the bath while watching TV, or listening to her favourite music. Bathroom flat screens are available from £1300.00

Luxurious lie in

If money is no object, treat your mum to a truly luxurious lie in, in an electronic leather bed that has an LCD screen that rises from the base of the bed and even has the option of a surround sound system! These beds are available from AV Acoustics from £14,500.00.

Smart day out

If your money won't stretch as far as these ideas, how about a smart day out? For modern mums who would like to see all this technology and more, how about tickets to the T3 Smart Home Show? Tickets are £8.00 in advance or £12.00 on the door.

The T3 Smart Home Show will be at the NEC in Birmingham from March 22nd – 25th, there will be over 60 exhibitors showcasing the latest smart home technology. Visitors to the T3 Smart Home Show will also gain free access into the co-located National Homebuilding & Renovating Show which brings together over 500 national and regional exhibitors, new products, new services and all the latest innovations in the self-build and renovation market.
